

Duck, Duck, Goose!

Make everyone sit in a circle and have one of them be the “goose” while the rest will play “ducks”. The ‘goose’ will then have to walk around the circle tapping everyone on the shoulder and saying “duck”. The goose should randomly tap someone and say “goose”. The person who got called a goose will have to then chase the other around before he sits in the empty spot.

Musical Chairs

This game is a lot of fun and is loved by all. Set up a bunch of chairs and ask everyone to run around them while the music is being played. When the music stops, everyone should sit down on the chair near them. Whoever is left without a chair will be out of the game. This means you will need to have one chair less than the number of people playing, so be ready to shuffle those chairs about.
